1. PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

Teaching / learning methodology

Interactive group sessions

During these sessions, basic concepts and theories will be discussed, specific issues related to the literature will be further explained, and certain topics will be zoomed in on. These group sessions will elicit active participation which contributes to higher teacher engagement, and is pivotal for the learning experience.

Skills building exercises

Within each module we will use exercises to engage students in active participation and development of research, writing and communication skills.

One-to-one coaching sessions

Individual coaching on academic competences and academic English writing will be provided to build on each student's strengths and address specific areas of improvement.

Self-study

The success of any learning experience is strongly dependent on the engagement with the materials and assignment provided. A substantial amount of individual studying is required. The programme uses mandatory articles, videos and other material as point of departure.

LinkedIn and WhatsApp-group

A WhatsApp group and a dedicated PhD LinkedIn page, facilitated by Indonesian PhD alumni, will be active throughout the pre-doc programme to stimulate social interaction and address topics related to Module 4 "Dutch Crash Course". Through the WhatsApp group, alumni will provide daily practical support to the PhD students and quick replies to practical questions they may have. For specific topics like housing in The Netherlands, taxes, social security, insurances, children day-care options, sports centers, community centers and life on campus, PhD students can refer to the dedicated LinkedIn page in which a Q&A section will be opened as well as referrals to tips & tricks and do's & don'ts.

Alumni gathering

During the course, two special moments could be chosen (in the evening after the classes) in which PhD students can voluntarily participate in an alumni gathering, in which alumni can share personal experiences of their PhD trajectory in the Netherlands through short presentations and Q&A. ETC will oversee the organisation and delivery of these sessions.

1. PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

Evaluation

- Presentation on PhD research proposal(20%) – elevator pitch presentation(5 min)
- Written Research Proposal(80%) – The research proposal reflects the extent to which you mastered the subject by demonstrating that you are able to clearly elaborate on a research topic of your choice – and in the correct words(writing part is critical as well as ability to argument cohesively). The research proposal is written during the two-week online course. What is assessed is the draft version of the proposal, attendance, assignments related to the writing or rewriting of the proposal and active participation.

Participants are expected to attend and actively participate in the full programme and do all the assignments to obtain the certificate.

56 study hours (2 x 28 hours = 2 ECTS)

Programme hours

2 credits

ECTS

Please consult with your graduate school and supervisor whether the ECTS will be recognized as part of your PhD training.

Certification

At the end of the programme, participants will be awarded a certificate which counts for 2 ECTS based on the syllabus of the entire programme and their active participation.

1. PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

Content

The pre-doctoral programme focuses on four core elements:

Module 1: Academic English Writing

Development of advanced writing and academic English skills.

The emphasis is on grammar and sentence structuring, with particular attention to the proper use of plurals, gender pronouns, past and future tenses, the definite and the indefinite article, or auxiliary verbs. This part of the course will also focus on developing arguments and building arguments in scientific terms.

Module 2: Academic Competences

Development of innovative research skills.

This is done by reflecting and elaborating on PhD students' research ideas and preliminary research proposals. Through a series of intensive sessions the PhD students will get a deeper understanding of the relevance of their topic, its integration within broader streams of literature and identify the appropriate methodology(ies) to tackle the addressed topic. In other words, this part of training offers PhD students a profound understanding of research tasks ahead and sets the stage for a successful start on the doctoral journey.

Module 3: Soft Skills Training

Communicating and presenting research to varied audiences and promoting research for maximum outreach.

Immersing PhD students in such soft skill training will consolidate their research project ideas and help better prepare for academic discussions with peers. It will also facilitate their introduction to the department and faculty as they will be able to clearly and easily explain their research topic. Additionally, it should enable them to keep track and stay on top of their research progress, thus contributing to timely thesis completion.

Module 4: Dutch Crash Course

Social and cultural exploration of the Dutch culture and language.

This module focuses on expectation management. PhD students will get insights on what living and doing a PhD in the Netherlands entails, in terms of: Dutch language, culture and society. For specific topics like housing, taxes, social security, insurances, children daycare options, discounts, sports centers, community centers and life on campus, PhD students can refer to the PhD LinkedIn page in which a Q&A section will be opened as well as referrals to tips & tricks and do's and don'ts. This module includes two lectures/information sessions by ETC with alumni involvement.

Learning goals

This programme has the following objectives:

- Equip PhD students with necessary research, presentation and academic English writing skills to successfully engage in their PhD trajectory
- Support PhD students in the development of a structured and scientifically grounded preliminary research proposal
- Offer a stronger base for the start of the PhD trajectory
- Foster better integration of incoming Indonesian PhD students in the Dutch academic system and culture

3. MODULES

MODULE 1 Academic English Writing

Description The component Academic Writing aims to develop and expand the skills required to write reports, articles, books and dissertations in English. Issues like correct language use and register are addressed in detail. The course also teaches students to write in language that is both effective and appropriate for academic texts. Students will learn how to develop and build arguments in Academic English terms. As for grammar, some challenging issues will be addressed, such as the use of plurals, gender pronouns, past and future tenses, the definite and the indefinite article, modality and auxiliary verbs. Issues that arise during the course will also, if possible, be worked into the course.

Hours This module comprises five sessions of 1.5 hours per each group of students in the course of the two-week training. This is supplemented by one-to-one coaching in the second week of the course.

Teaching methodology The course will be taught using a variety of teaching methods: instruction by the tutor, peer review assignments in groups, self-reflection assignments and individual study. The taught sessions will be supported by coaching sessions in the second week of the course.

Assignments

- Before the start of the course, students will be asked to write a short self-reflection (max 1 page) about themselves, their academic/professional ambitions and which aspects of Academic English they would most like to improve.
- Following each session, students will be asked to reflect on and improve their own writing in terms of the topics covered in class. These assignments will include writing, reviewing and revising their own preliminary research proposal as well as short sections of other academic text.

Study materials Study materials will be provided by the tutor during the course. Recommended additional reading and resources will also be indicated by the tutor as needed.

3. MODULES

MODULE 2

Academic Competences

Description

This module is suitable for PhDs from different disciplines who seek to improve their competences in developing and writing a research proposal. Although disciplines vary in research content, their broad approach in terms of operational steps in the research process is similar, addressing questions such as what to research (decide) and why (justify) and how to do the research (design and plan). This module will concentrate on the following steps in research proposal development: generating innovative research ideas, reviewing the literature, formulating a research problem that it is clearly linked to the research questions or objectives, developing a conceptual framework that captures the information needed to answer the research questions, and conceptualizing a research design that covers research methodologies for each of your research questions.

Hours

This module comprises five sessions of 2 hours and one of 1.5 hours. This is supplemented by one-to-one coaching in the second week of the course.

Teaching methodology

The approach that we will follow is to start with reflecting and elaborating on the PhD students' research ideas and preliminary research proposals. Then, through a series of intensive sessions the PhD students will get a deeper understanding of the relevance of their topic, its integration within broader streams of literature and scientific debates providing the contours of a conceptual framework, and identify appropriate methodology(ies) to tackle the addressed topic.

Assignments

The students will work and progressively refine their preliminary research proposal through four assignments (see details below).

Assignment 1

Formulation of research questions and objectives

Go back to your submitted research proposal and review your overall and sub research questions and / or objectives (and hypothesis, if any) paying attention to:

- The verbs used (e.g. are these strong or weak verbs)
- The wording (clearly and unambiguously in words and ideas)
- Main versus sub- / specific question (e.g. check number of aspects covered per sub-objective)
- Whether the specific objectives jointly cover all relevant aspects of the research problem (referred to in your main objective or research question) that you plan (and will be able) to study (as far as you can judge at this time of course)

Assignment 2

Writing the background and justification of research

Write a paragraph (review and adjust the concerned paragraph in your proposal) on the background and justification of your research, based on a review of the literature. Given the short time available, we do not expect a complete review based on an exhausting list of references but a total of 5 – 10 articles and / or chapters of books will be sufficient. Important is that you structure your paragraph addressing the following points:

Intro to topic

- What is the situation of your topic (introduce topic)?

Statement of problem

- What is the problem you like to study? what is the key issue?
- What is the size of the problem? Is there evidence of the problem? (show data from literature that indicate the size of the problem)

Justification

- Why is it important to address this problem? (Set out the reasons for undertaking this particular study)
- Why do you think your research problem or question is worth investigating, why is it important for the academic field (scientific relevance; indicate knowledge gap)?
- Why would your research create valuable and useful knowledge?
- What is the societal relevance? Any ethical aspects?

Assignment 3

Developing a conceptual framework

Make a visual representation of a conceptual framework (if possible, based on an existing theoretical framework) that relates to your research problem. Think about aspects selected from existing theories that may become the basis of your research or inquiry.

Steps for developing a conceptual framework:

1. Find relevant literature – use search engines like
  - <http://scholar.google.com/>;
  - <http://www.plosone.org/>;
  - <http://www.bioone.org/>;
  - <http://iopscience.iop.org/1468-6996/>;
  - <http://www.sciencedirect.com/>;
  - <http://www.doaj.org/>;
  - <http://www.getcited.org/>
2. Review the literature (limit the number of sources to about 10 key articles): identify themes (based on theories) and issues that are of relevance to your research which in turn can serve as a basis for developing a conceptual (or theoretical) framework.
3. Organise the findings from the literature materials you have reviewed into these themes.
4. Select the most important aspects from these themes that relate to your specific research problem (the information you have gathered relate to thematic areas and associated issues in which your research is embedded, however, not all may be of direct or specific relevance to your research problem; hence, select those that are of direct relevance).
5. Identify relationships between themes, examine the type of relationship among themes, e.g. positive/negative influence, functional relationship, and identify a hierarchical structure (if any).
6. Make visual representations of this information and write a short paragraph explaining the visual.

The following points concerning the knowledge status and knowledge gap will help you in developing an innovative framework:

- What do we know, and what not, about the research problem?
- What are key references and relevant theory (-ies)? (refer to a few)
- What are key factors influencing the research problem?
- What is the current scientific debate related to the problem?

3. MODULES

Assignment 4

Developing a methodological framework

Make a visual representation of your research methodology (in the form of a framework diagram, a table or a flow chart). In doing so, note the following points:

1. Mention the type of overall research design (e.g., cross-sectional, before and after, longitudinal design, or...) you plan to use.
2. Identify a methodology for each specific research question or objective and make this visible in your framework.
3. Don't forget the time perspective in your framework:
  - Determine your reference period (e.g., retrospective, prospective, retrospective-prospective)
  - Distinguish different phases and / or sequences in time for your methodologies.
4. Write a short paragraph explaining the framework.

3. MODULES

MODULE 3

Soft Skills Trainings

Description

This module is suitable for PhDs from different disciplines who seek to explore and enhance their soft skill abilities. In this module, we will be working on your communication and presentation skills. You will learn how to promote and pitch your PhD research work in a concise and engaging way by identifying the essence of your message, providing enough evidence to support it, and ensuring your audience feels addressed, involved and motivated to give you feedback.

The aim of the course is to develop the basic presentation skills necessary for successful PhD trajectories, taking into account the need for context/ situation-based adaptations.

The module includes a mapping of vital subskills for academic presentation. The focus is on essence, structure and context. Participants will share their prior experience with presenting and are encouraged to identify areas for improvement, which allow for individual skills development. We will apply a model for structuring a presentation, define criteria for reaching your audience and explore the effects of an intercultural context on effective presenting. In this module, we will also explore different communication and presentation styles, with attention to the cultural dimensions. The accent will be on: personal strengths, adaptability and interaction. Participants will practice by adapting their presentation style to the needs of the audience for better interaction and more valuable Q&A.

Hours

This module comprises five sessions of 1.5 hours per each group of students in the course of the two-week training.

Teaching methodology

An experiential learning approach will be used. Participants will develop their presentation skills and mindset by acting, reflecting, exploring, experimenting and receiving/ giving feedback. For the best effect, active participation is required.

Assignments

The soft skill-sharpening will occur through a progression of interlinked assignments which stimulate participants to activate and build on the experience and insights acquired in each session. The assignments will help participants to develop specific aspects of presentation skills.

Study materials

Study materials (including handouts and links to videos) will be provided by the lecturers in preparation for each class. Furthermore, guidelines to advanced presentation skills with practical advices on preparation, structuring for clarity, signposting, referencing, and dealing with Q&A plus examples from 3MT (3-minute thesis) competitions will be also distributed.
